Frank Loses In Fight to See Ballots

La Guardia Elected, Says Justice McAvoy, Denying Application of Defeated Democratic Candidate

Fraud Charges Ridiculed

Counsel Asks How Threats Could Have Been Made in the Polling Places

Exercising the discretion with which the new election laws gives the courts in such matters, Supreme Court Justice McAvoy denied yesterday the application of Henry I. Frank, defeated Democratic candidate for Congress in the 20th Congressional District, for an examination of the ballots, which, on their face, showed that Fiorello H. La Guardia, former President of the Board of Aldermen and the Republican candidate, had been elected.

Samuel Ecker, counsel for Mr. Frank, told the court that Mr. La Guardia and twenty of his supporters rode about the district on Election Day and intimidated members of election boards and also that officers of bribes had been made to Tammany captains to permit a falsification of the returns.

Charges Death Threat

In one district, it was charged, a follower of La Guardia said to the chairman of the board: "If you do not sign the return handed to you, your body will be found in the East River to-morrow morning." In the 7th Election District of the 17th Assembly District, said Mr. Ecker, the returns had been falsified so that the official made the count La Guardia 116 and Frank 114, when, as a matter of fact, Frank received 214 and La Guardia 60.

McAvoy's Decision

In denying the application of the defeated candidate, Justice McAvoy said: "Even if we assume the most radical kind of a situation, that in each district the figures were transposed and the victor in each district was made the loser, if that result was effected, it was unaccompanied by any void or protested ballots to be examined, the certificate of election must issue to that person under the law. These election officials are judges of election; they are judges in the first instance of whether those ballots are or are not to be counted, and how they are to be counted, and if they get into the boxes and are not held up as protested or void ballots or defective for one reason or another their decision is final and the court has no right to interfere with it at all prior to the election. A quo warranto or other proceeding to oust the person who is holding the office by reason of the fraudulent election is brought. . . . The election officials' announcement that the election is a final conclusion until it is voided by an order after review of void and protested ballots."

Woman Is Arrested in $3,500 Fur Coat Suit

Dealers Say It Was Delivered to Her by Mistake and She's Hiding It

Mrs. Laura H. Thompson, of 797 Lexington Avenue, living apart from her husband, a former member of the Stock Exchange, was arrested yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Murphy in a civil suit brought by Revillon Freres, who allege that Mrs. Thompson refused to return a $3,500 mink coat delivered to her by mistake.

Mrs. Thompson, it is alleged, bought the coat from Revillon Freres, but before she paid for it decided to put it in storage with the firm, along with other furs of her own. When the time came for Mrs. Thompson to take her furs out of storage there was a mix-up and the unpaid-for coat also was delivered to Mrs. Thompson.

Revillon Freres began a replevin proceeding and Deputy Sheriff Lannan, accompanied by a merchant and a lawyer, went to the home of Mrs. Thompson to replevin the coat. She told the callers it was not in the house and a search of the apartment by Deputy Sheriff Lannan confirmed her statement. Mrs. Thompson refused to tell where the garment was, and then the plaintiffs brought a suit for the coat and also obtained an order of arrest. Mrs. Thompson obtained a $3,500 bail bond and was released from custody.

Georgia Woman Senator to Try To Take Seat in Session Monday

Mrs. W. H. Felton, 87 Years Old, Will Make Trip to Washington Despite Severe Cold and Opinion of Many She Is Not Eligible

ATLANTA, Nov. 14.—Mrs. W. H. Felton, who was named by Governor Hardwick as Senator ad interim, following the death of Senator Thomas E. Watson, has made plans to be in Washington next Monday when the extra session of Congress convenes, she declared in a statement given out today at her home in Cartersville.

"While I have no information other than that generally known by the public," she said, "I feel confident that the situation as it now exists, with Senator-elect George being unable to obtain his commission for the time being, will permit me to be formally and officially sworn in next Monday as Georgia's junior Senator."

"It is my sincere desire to gratify the wishes of the tens of thousands of American women who have so earnestly petitioned for this favor. I am willing to make the effort to gratify them. Whether I am sworn in or not, it is an opportune time to meet the members of the Senate as an ex-Senator. Anyhow, I have decided to attempt the trip."

Mrs. Felton, who is eighty-seven years old, has been suffering recently with a severe cold, but has been improving steadily for the last few days, she said.

Mrs. W. H. Felton, Georgia's woman Senator, lost her title on the date of the election of her successor and therefore will not be entitled to sit with the United States Senate when it convenes next Monday was an opinion expressed in New York today by Governor Hard-

Smith Shuns Cares Of State to Close Up Personal Affairs

"Just Tell 'Em You Saw Me and Report Progress," He Informs Inquirer; Albany Plans Home Coming

Governor-elect Alfred E. Smith has gone back to the trucking business for a few days and is trying to elude the job hunters and avoid serious discussion of appointments and policies until he has straightened out his personal affairs preparatory to changing his residence to Albany.

"If I didn't have so many personal affairs to clean up I would be away somewhere resting a little after the campaign," he said last night at the Hotel Biltmore. "Matters of state will have to wait a few days until I can get time to devote my whole attention to them. Just tell them that you saw me and report progress."

The Governor-elect put in an afternoon at golf, however, and returned to his apartment at the hotel in time for dinner. James J. Riordan, president of the United States Trucking Corporation, accompanied him on the trip.

"How is your golf?" Governor-elect Smith was asked.

"Rotten!" he replied emphatically. "I don't pretend to know much about the game, but I like to get out in the fresh air."

"How about Comptroller Craig's suggestion of a new city department to take the Department of Transportation, with a commissioner at the head, appointed by the Mayor, to handle traction matters?"

"I don't want to say anything about the now," he replied.

Elaborate plans are now under way, it was learned yesterday, to give the Governor-elect the greatest "welcome home" reception ever accorded a Governor when he arrives in Albany a few days before the first of the year. A committee of Albany citizens has already been organized to arrange for a parade, reception and public dinner in honor of the incoming Governor. William Humphries, former chief of police of the New York Central lines, said yesterday that Al's reception would be the biggest ever. The largest hall obtainable in Albany will be engaged for the public dinner. The Governor-elect is expected in Albany a day or two after Christmas. On New Year's Eve a private dinner will be tendered him at Wolfert's Roost Country Club, the former dinner of David B. Hill. Following the dinner all will attend the inaugural ball at the 10th Regiment Armory.

Seek Sport Car as Clew To Finding Murder Auto

Police Think Men in Machine May Help Them Catch Patrolman's Slayers

Through the newspapers, Captain Arthur Carey, of the Homicide Squad, hopes to get a clew to the sport car which was following the black touring car which was followed by the patrolman Charles Hoffman on Manhattan Bridge Sunday night. The black car and its five occupants eluded all pursuers and apparently no one has been found who can identify it.

The latest development yesterday was the statement of Patrolman Edward Delaney, of Traffic A, who said he was standing at the Manhattan end of the bridge when the touring car flashed past. In its wake came a brown sport car with two occupants who yelled: "That car just struck a cop."

The car kept on in pursuit, and Delaney, accompanied by another patrolman, followed them both, but got tangled in traffic on Canal Street and lost sight of them. Captain Carey urges the two men in the sport car to present themselves at Police Headquarters and help the police in finding the murder machine.

Convict Kills Guard, Stabs 6 Others; Dying

O'Ryan Pleads For One Great Transit System

Declares Commission's Plan Is Only One That Will Insure 5-Cent Fare and Linking of All Lines

Answers Craig Criticism

Stresses Fact That Roads Would Be Free of Private and Political Control

The one practicable plan for insuring for New York a unified transit system, a five-cent fare and free transfers is the Transit Commission's proposal for the taking over of all of the existing lines and linking them up in one great system, declared General John F. O'Ryan, a member of the commission, in answering the criticisms of Comptroller Craig and pointing out the inaccuracies in his address Monday before the members of the West End Association.

In commenting on Comptroller Craig's statement that the transit proposals of the commission had been rejected by the municipal authorities because it sought to turn over the new subway lines merely as extensions of the Interborough and the B. T. Co., General O'Ryan insisted they were misleading and erroneous. The joint board of control for New York's transit lines as proposed by the commission, he declared, would assure the city more home rule than Mayor Hylan's plan.

"Hooking up the proposed new lines with existing lines was not for the purpose of turning them over to the existing corporations for their benefit," he said, "but in order that the new lines might physically be a part of a unified, city-wide system, which we propose shall be taken over in its entirety for the benefit of the people of the city. What the city authorities apparently propose is the piecemeal acquisition of parts only of the existing rapid transit lines, and their municipal operation. This in itself would insure double fares."

"What is needed is a unified city-wide system, including all facilities essential for the convenience of the public, not operated for gain by private corporations, as has been the case up to the present time, nor yet by the municipal authorities with political control of the system, but rather by expert management under the supervision of a public board of control, one-half of whom would represent the public and the other half those whose property had been acquired to constitute the unified system. Universal transfers over a system thus unified would then be entirely practicable. That our plan provides for. We would thus have municipal ownership and control without the abuses of political operation and expert operation without the opportunities for abuse offered by private operation for gain."

"Our conclusion was and is that a system of transportation in the City of New York in the hands of private corporations, acting primarily for gain, is not in the interest of the public. But we do not believe that municipal political operation is the remedy, even if it could be put into effect."

"The real solution lies in the adoption of the commission's plan."

Wilson Speech Speeds Up Cash for Foundation

Hamilton Holt, executive director of the Woodrow Wilson Foundation, figures that the brief speech Mr. Wilson made on Armistice Day already has been worth several thousand dollars to the Foundation. Almost $10,000 in checks of $5 or less has been received since Saturday.

More than 100,000 men, women and children in every state in the Union have contributed $700,000 to the Foundation. An effort is now being made to raise $300,000 by December 28, Mr. Wilson's sixty-sixth birthday.

after he had been shot and pelted with coal in a coal bunker, where he hid after the stabbing. Hospital authorities say he has a fractured skull and may not live.

Martinez fashioned the knife with which he did the killing from a piece of steel, according to Warden W. I. Biddle. Leonard was looked upon in the prison as a fearless guard. He is survived by a wife and three children.

A prisoner this morning warned William Doidge, a guard, that Martinez was carrying a knife. Doidge demanded the knife. Martinez replied by stabbing the guard. Another approached and Martinez stabbed him. Captain Leonard then rushed in and stabbed the guard. Another approached and Martinez stabbed him.
